"Let us bring the outdoors in"

Clean Air Humidifiers

Helps you enjoy a healthier more comfortable home. When cold, dry air enters your home and is warmed to room temperature, the relative humidity in the average house can drop as little as 5%. Compare that to the average 25% relative humidity of the Sahara desert and you can understand why the air inside your home can seriously affect your health and comfort. Since various studies have estimated that most people spend as much as 90% of their time at home indoors, there's reason to be concerned about indoor air quality.
